The Hidden Blade

Thursday, May 27th @ 6:30 pm

Honor, loyalty and love are at stake in The Hidden Blade, the second film in director Yoji Yamada's acclaimed samurai trilogy which began with the Oscar-nominated Twilight Samurai and ended with Love and Honor (shown at the JICC last October).

Katagiri is an honest, low-ranking samurai struggling to adapt as the way of the samurai fades and Western influences begin to take hold in mid 19th century Japan. Raised to respect tradition, the modernization of Japan's political and military methods is forcing Katagiri to look to the future. Publicly he tries to maintain his footing, paying heed to the demanding moral code of the samurai while striving to master new military technology. Privately he is secretly in love with his family's maid. His passion leads him to rescue her from a loveless marriage, scandalously carrying the low-caste young woman away on his back. When an old friend, the clan's best swordsman, is arrested in Edo for plotting against the Shogunate, Katagiri comes under suspicion. Ordered to kill the 'traitor' to prove his allegiance, the loyal samurai is faced with one final challenge to his principles.

Japanese with English subtitles. Rated R. 132min, 2004. Directed by Yoji Yamada.
